New West Memphis Public Library

City and library officials broke ground on the future site of the $4.1 million West Memphis Library and Innovation Center on Monday, Aug. 19. The new 14,400-square-foot facility, which doubles the existing 7,500-square-foot public library, will be the first civic building constructed in West Memphis since 1974, according to West Memphis Mayor Marco McClendon. Located on Broadway Avenue, it is slated to be completed and open in the fall of 2020.
